For Better Government

University's Institute of Public Affairs In Eleventh Year of Service to Iowa

By Jerry Kirkpatrick

(Reprinted from 'Staff Magazine')

"Please send me any information you have on voting, and tell about your work. I'm supposed to give a report in government class," a junior high school student wrote Robert Ray.

For Professor Ray, Director of the Institute of Public Affairs, it would have been very difficult to write a letter which would answer the student's request completely.

In its first year alone, the Institute published the results of five major research projects on Iowa government. Now, after a busy decade, its long list of projects would still barely begin to touch the subject.

George Mather, Administrative Assistant at the Institute, answered the student's request, "You have chosen a very broad subject, 'Voting.' I suggest you talk with your teacher to see whether she can help you decide what things you want to cover in your report. Perhaps you have read our book, 'Voting in Iowa.'"

"Voting in Iowa" stemmed from the request of a state official, as do many of the Institute's projects. Secretary of State Melvin D. Synhorst received countless inquiries about Iowa election procedures before every election and he asked that information be compiled to answer the most common questions.

More than 17,000 copies of the 64-page booklet written by Professor Mather have been sold to 4-H Clubs, political parties, the Farm Bureau, schools and other organizations and individuals. Because of the statewide acceptance of "Voting in Iowa," the Institute was encouraged to publish a companion booklet, "A Citizen's Guide to Iowa Municipal Government and Elections." It was designed for use during the odd-numbered years when city and town elections are held.

The first booklet was so successful that the League of Iowa Municipalities placed a pre-publication order for 950 copies of the new voting guide for use by city and town clerks.

Iowans have requested copies of the pamphlets on voting and the duties of municipal officers for many reasons.

"Please send me some booklets or books which describe the duties of mayor," one Iowa man wrote. "Some day I will run, as there is not law here now."

The Institute of Public Affairs was founded in October, 1949, at the recommendation of President Virgil M. Hancher. Its main job is research aimed at improving operation of government at all levels within the state. This research has dealt with everything from atomic energy to garbage collection.

A survey of refuse collection and disposal in Iowa cities was the subject of many jokes and the project was commonly referred to as the "garbage can survey." However, the seriousness of the project was made evident by the number of Iowa officials who requested hundreds of copies of a report on the findings.

A major research effort has been expended in the preparation of "Iowa Model Ordinances." Work on this project began in 1950 and is still in process. The first series of model ordinances was published in 1953, and additions and revisions are distributed each year. The work now consists of more than 400 pages and 40 chapters; nearly 30 research assistants have assisted in preparing these guides for local attorneys, in co-operation with the College of Law and the League of Iowa Municipalities.

There have been many other publications prepared by the Institute which have required a large volume of research, most of which is done by Dean Zenor, Research Chief, and Robert Stoyles, Jr., Research Specialist.

The Bureau of Police Science in the Institute provides training as well as research for peace officers of the state. Short courses in this program deal with such problems as those involved in handling drunk drivers, preventing auto thefts and curbing juvenile delinquency.

Each year, law enforcement officers attend four different short courses under the direction of Richard Holcomb, Chief of the Bureau of

A WORD ABOUT YOUR INVESTMENT

in the State University of Iowa

$2,338,380 FOR FACULTY SALARY INCREASES in 1961-62. $416,071 MORE IN 1962-63.

The University will ask the 59th General Assembly of Iowa to appropriate funds to enable SUI to reach third-place salary levels in similar colleges among comparable universities in the 11-state area, and to hold this position for two years.

WHY?

Because a quality faculty is the heart of a quality University—

Because salaries in SUI's colleges presently range from third to ninth place among comparable universities in the 10 surrounding states—

Because this University must compete for quality teachers with other major universities, with government and with industry—

Because neighboring states have been raising faculty salaries, too—the third place level is a moving target. The Iowa legislature has provided for salary increases in the last four years, but the target keeps moving ahead—

The University needs your understanding and support for the sake of our Iowa young people and the future of our State.

Police Science. These courses are the Police Traffic School, the Command Officers School, the Recruit School and a peace officers short course that includes a study of basic and advanced investigation and general police methods.

In 1954 the State Board of Regents authorized the Institute of Public Affairs to serve as headquarters of the Iowa affiliate of the Citizenship Clearing House, opening the way for a special project called "Week in Washington." Last year 20 Iowa college students spent a week in Washington as guests of Rep. Fred Schwengel (R-Davenport) and Rep. Leonard Wolf (D-Elkader).

The program was started in 1955 when 10 students were guests of Schwengel. While they are in Washington, the students observe activities in his office, attend sessions of Congress and committee hearings, visit national headquarters of their parties and interview Congressmen.

Another example of the wide range of activities undertaken by the Institute during its first decade is a 48-page booklet entitled "State Control and Administration of Atomic Radiation," by William Ellet, formerly with the Political Science Department. He described the increasing use of radioactive materials in industry, medicine and agriculture which are creating serious problems for state governments. Requests for the booklet have poured into the Institute from all over the country, many from agencies of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Dr. Ray says that a major factor in the success of the Institute's projects during its first 10 years has been the fine co-operation received from staff members in the various colleges and departments of the University.

But despite its many activities, the Institute has by no means covered all the aspects of government. Dr. Ray was unable to fill the following request from an Iowa student:

"I am writing a term paper for government class, the subject being 'A Famous Third Party.' I have chosen for my topic, 'The Whigs and the Tories.' Do you have any information on them?"

The Hawks ran and passed like champions, but their ball-handling wasn't there . . . Wisconsin struck early and held on for the win . . . Olen Treadway set a new Big Ten record for pass completions with 26 of 41 attempts and 304 yards . . . Don Norton equaled Iowa mark by snaring 9 of Treadway's pitches . . . Again Jeter was the big man in the Iowa ground attack as he picked his way over the rough field for 70 yards in 9 carries.

Scoring Sequence

Iowa: Horn, 1 yd, 5:33 left in 3rd, (Treadway pass to Norton); Treadway pass to Norton, 21 yards, 7:59 left in 4th, (Treadway pass to Langston).

Everybody Is Talking About HOORAY FOR THE HAWKEYES

Don White, Davenport Democrat:

"Dick Lamb, a Davenport football historian, and Buck Turnbull, a Des Moines sports writer, have collaborated on the greatest thing for University of Iowa football fans since Forest Evashevski came to Hawkeyeland. They call it 'Hooray for the Hawkeyes.' It's a unique Collection of the actual sounds and voices of the big moments in Iowa's finest modern football era—1953 to 1959."

Al Grady, Iowa City Press-Citizen:

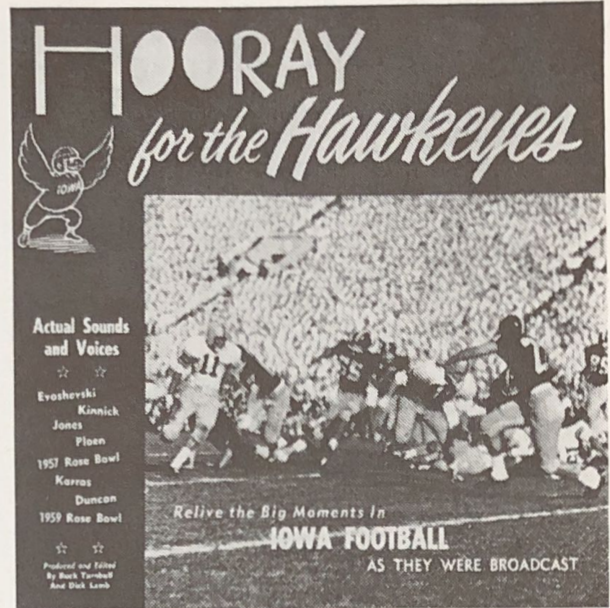

"Iowa is the first school to put out such a long-play album. It's so well done that there are sure to be imitators soon. . . . It's a record Iowa grid fans will treasure and, incidentally, would make a terrific Christmas gift for Hawkeye fans now far away who thrill to the memory of the sounds of Iowa stadium."

Bert McGrane, Des Moines Register:

"It's the story of games you will remember—games played by Forest Evashevski's teams in this recent great era of football at Iowa . . .

"And a climax is the speech made by the late Nile Kinnick, who completed a brilliant career in 1939, in accepting the Heisman trophy.

"I listened, choked up a couple of times, and then went up to my room and sat there, looking out the window and seeing games I had covered five, six, seven years ago."

The record will be on sale outside the stadium after the game for $5. If you would like to mail one to a friend, send $5.25 to: Football Record, Athletic Department, University of Iowa, Iowa City, Iowa.

"Will you explain that play just once more to me, coach?"

HOW HIGHWAY SPEED LAWS ARE ENFORCED IN IOWA

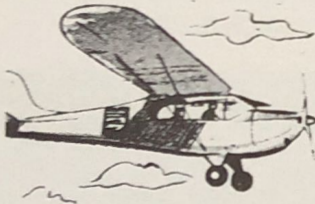

RADAR.

The Iowa Highway Patrol is using radar speed detectors on the open highways both day and night. Radar teams move from place to place on major highways throughout the state.

UNMARKED RADAR CARS.

Several unmarked Highway Patrol cars have radar equipment concealed in their trunks. You may encounter one of these cars parked along the highway checking speeds. (Note: only fully marked patrol cars are used to pursue or stop violators.)

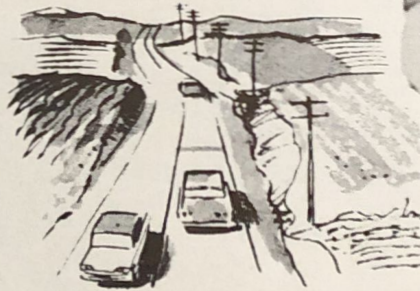

HIGHWAY PATROL AIRPLANES.

Highway patrol pilots in observation planes constantly watch primary highways for speed, improper passing and stop sign violations. Pilots are in radio contact with patrol cars on the highways.

SPEED ZONES.

450 speed zones are marked on highways throughout the state. They consist of strips of white paint one-eighth of a mile apart on the same side of a highway. By checking the time it takes for your vehicle to pass from one paint mark to the next, patrol pilots can accurately gauge your speed.

Despite a Wisconsin win in the Hawkeye-Badger contest a year ago, it probably will be a long time before Wisconsin fans forget the passing show put on by Iowa quarterback Olen Treadway. Treadway set a new Big Ten record of pass completions in the contest with 26 of 41 attempts. His total passing gain was 304 yards. Also a part of a record was Hawkeye end Don Norton, who equaled an Iowa mark by snaring nine of Treadway's tosses.

Iowa has no players from Wisconsin on its squad this 1960 season. George Harrell, the lone Wisconsin letterman returning to the team from 1959, found early this year that he had used all his eligibility and thus was unable to compete. Harrell was a tackle. There are two Iowans on the Wisconsin team this year, Dion Kempthorne and Kenneth Montgomery. Kempthorne is a guard while Montgomery will play halfback. Both are from Dubuque Senior.

ANOTHER MEETING OF IOWA & WISCONSIN

Coach Evashevski says:

"This Wisconsin series is a great one and I am glad it is to continue. Badgers are on our schedule for the next six years—through 1966. Of course it's good to recall Iowa victories, especially those three in a row 1956 through 1958—and I remember they were great games, usually decided by some quick break which opened the scoring door.

"It's good that we get a crack at the Badgers at Iowa City this year because we always seem to do better against them at home. In spite of Wisconsin's player losses from the championship team, I expect another great game. Coach Bruhn will have done a good job of replacing the veterans."

Miscellany: Hawkeyes vs. Badgers

*Iowa and Wisconsin have broken even in eight games since Coach Evy came to Iowa in 1952. Iowa victories were scored in 1954, 1956, 1957 and 1958. Wisconsin won in 1952, 1953, 1955 and 1959. Three of Iowa's four wins were scored at home.

*Teams coached by Milt Bruhn and Evy have met four times, Iowa won the first three games but lost last October at Madison, 25-16, as the Badgers moved on to the title.

*Both of the last two games were played at Madison. Wisconsin last appeared at Iowa City in 1957.

*Wisconsin and Iowa both are rebuilding. Badgers won the title in 1959, now have only nine returning lettermen. Iowa, sixth in 1959, has 14 returning lettermen. Badger sophomores are prevalent: 41, along with 25 juniors and 6 seniors. Iowa has 29 sophomores of a squad of 58 men.

*Wisconsin and Iowa similarity: backfield speed of sophomores. The Badgers will use a "pro-type" offense designed to open up the attack and take advantage of speed of sophomores.

*At Madison last year, Iowa was plagued by fumbles: 5 fumbles and 5 balls lost. Two stopped promising Iowa marches on the Wisconsin 30 and 14-yard lines, two others were on the Iowa 27 and 40-yard lines and led to Badger touchdowns. Wisconsin won, 25-16, and it was another case of a team making superior yardage, 468 to 305, but losing because the opponent was quick to take advantage of Hawkeye errors.

*Wisconsin has two Iowa athletes on its football roster: Dion Kempthorne, guard; and Kenneth Montgomery, right halfback. Both are sophomores and graduates of Dubuque Senior High School.

FIRSTS AND FOREMOST

The first team to charge admission to its football games was Yale. Back in 1872 fans paid 25c to watch Yale meet Columbia.

The first broadcast of a football game was at Texas A. & M. in 1921. It was sent out by dots and dashes. The first standard radio broadcast was from Stagg Field, Chicago on October 28, 1922, when Princeton defeated Chicago 21 to 18.

Knute Rockne developed 89 players who went on to become coaches. Among the best known were Harry Stuhldreher, Jim Crowley, Elmer Layden and Frank Leahy.

The famous Pop Warner received his first coaching salary from Georgia in 1895. They gave him $35 for a 10-week season.

The first Rose Bowl Game was played on January 1, 1902. Stanford and Michigan were the opponents. Michigan was the victor—49 to 0.

The forward pass was first legalized in 1906.

Players Have Hobbies, Too

They say everyone should have a hobby and Iowa football players are no exception. They were asked to list their hobbies on their personal questionnaire and some came up with interesting ones. Running quickly down the list: Don Ferrell, pigeon raising; George Harrell, chess; Sammie Harris, watching "Huckleberry Hound" on TV; Al Hinton, drawing and painting; Wilburn Hollis, water skiing; Earl McQuiston, reading and music; Jim Robenson, chess and astronomy; Sherwyn Thorson, weight lifting; Jerry Williams, mountain climbing (former Iowan now lives in Washington); Joe Williams, cars and cards; Jim Winston, horseback riding; Chester Williams, poetry and jazz; Dayton Perry, listening to good music; and Don Zinn, sailing.

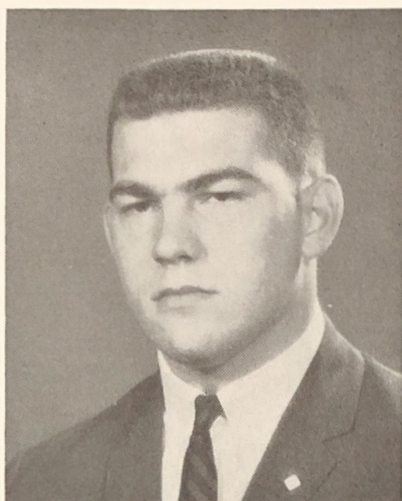

And then there is Mike McDonald's hobby: "Girls and more girls."

I O W A

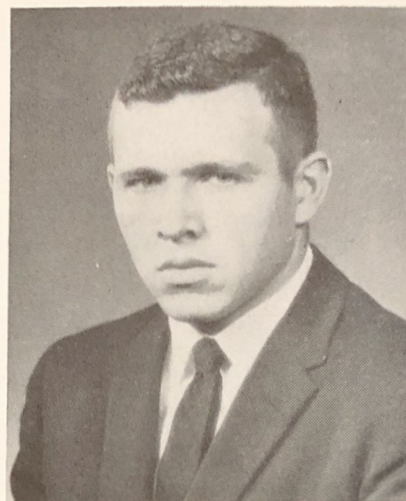

ALFRED HINTON
Tackle

Promising junior tackle who showed up well while serving a relief role last fall . . . could be one of the starting tackles . . . hard to move and has fair pursuit . . . lots of desire and is a great competitor . . . interested in majoring in art . . . hobby is drawing . . . also has been a candidate for the track team . . . 6-1 and 235 . . . from Saginaw, Mich. . . . born 11-27-40.

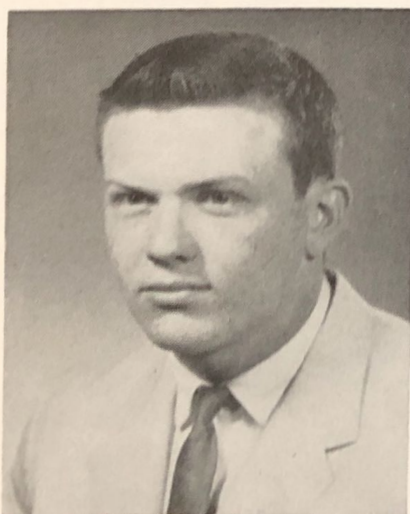

JERRY SWARTZ
Tackle

Top sophomore prospect to provide the needed depth at tackle . . . has good speed for a man his size and capitalized on this asset to move up to No. 2 right tackle, behind Al Hinton . . . will see a lot of action this fall and possibly could be a starter before season is over . . . was an all-stater in high school and received honorable mention for high school all-American . . . 6-1 and 235 . . . from Luray, Va. . . . born 2-8-40.

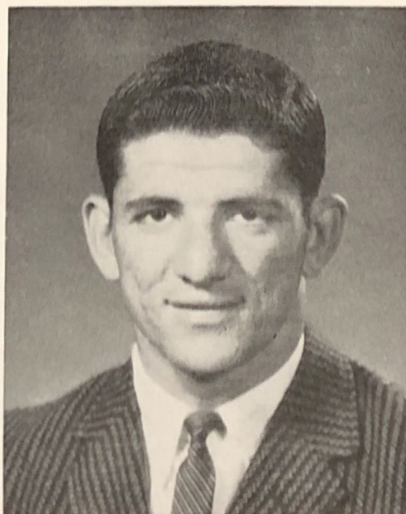

BILL WHISLER
End

Pleasant surprise as a sophomore . . . came on fast after he found himself and adjusted to the switch from quarterback to end . . . big, fast, and rugged man . . . has fine hands and desire to make top end . . . fine defensive end . . . last year he snared 6 passes for 96 yards and one touchdown . . . if he continues at the pace he held at the end of last season, he should be one of the starting ends . . . 6-3 and 215 . . . from Yankton, S.D. . . . born 11-15-40.

MARK MANDERS
Guard

This two-time letterman is one of the top two guards for the Hawks and seems certain he will be able to hold the spot . . . started games as a junior and was top reserve as a sophomore . . . a former fullback, he possesses the speed need of an Iowa guard . . . blocks well and a good defensive player . . . son of former Drake and Chicago Bear great, "Pug" Manders . . . married . . . 6-0 and 200 . . . from Des Moines . . . born 10-22-36.

BERNARD WYATT
Halfback

The little defensive specialist appears to now have overcome a knee injury that forced him out of action when he was a sophomore and hampered his offensive stunts last fall . . . he came back to fine form this spring and showed great spirit and hustle during the spring drills . . . when healthy he is one of the fastest backs on the Iowa club . . . also a track man, specializing in the sprints and relays . . . 5-10 and 160 . . . married . . . from Amityville, N.Y. . . . born 8-21-38.

Who Are Those Guys Out There?

“Those guys,” meaning the men on the field in the striped shirts, may include a doctor, a lawyer, a business executive, a teacher, or even a chief—of police. The roster of Big Ten officials includes a cross-section of professional and business life.

“The first thing we look for in an official,” says Big Ten Commissioner K. L. “Tug” Wilson, “is character. We can measure this pretty well by a man’s advance in his own work and his status in his community. Every one of our officials is successful in his work and highly respected in his own community. Most are engaged in civic activities—one is mayor of his home town.”

“We seek, but do not necessarily require, an athletic background,” Wilson continues. All but eight Big Ten officials were college football players, including three who received all-America recognition, and five of the others lettered in other sports.

Age is a factor in selecting officials, Wilson says, as it bears upon physical condition. But officiating experience is the prime requirement. The average age of Big Ten officials is 46, and each has an average of more than 21 years’ officiating experience.

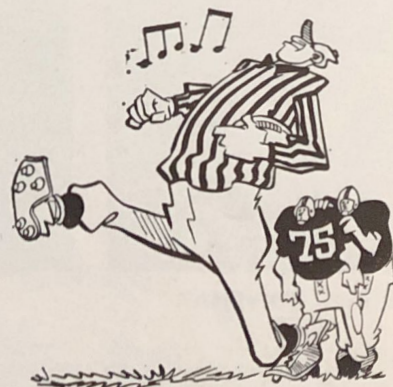

Rules knowledge is an absolute requirement. Officials are required to meet regularly, in and out of season, in review sessions where they have thrown at them such questions as “Team A punts to Team B player who catches, advances 15 yards, then drop kicks ball through upright and over cross bar of Team A goal: legal field goal for B?”*

Big Ten officials work with a set of highly developed techniques of procedure. These are designed to keep officials outside the play at all times, and permit an official to be near the ball in any play situation.

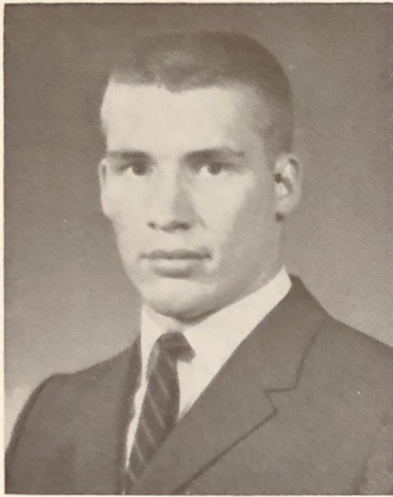

Judgment, according to Wilson, becomes a major factor in all officiating. “But,” he says, “given men of character and experience, well grounded in rules and techniques, we think we can rely upon their judgment. I will never fault one of our officials for a judgment call if he was in the proper position to make the ruling.”

Officiating is strictly an avocation. “In fact,” Wilson says, “a man has to be dedicated to the game to want to work as an official.” A Big Ten official receives $135 a game, plus a mileage allowance for expenses.

OLD GOLD

I

O Iowa, calm and secure on thy hill,
Looking down on the river below,
With a dignity born of the dominant will
Of the men who have lived long ago.
O heir of the glory of pioneer days,
Let thy spirit be proud as of old,
For thou shalt have blessing and honor and praise
In the daughters and sons of Old Gold.

II

We shall sing and be glad with the days as they fly
In the time that we spend in thy halls,
And in sadness we'll part when the days have gone by,
And our paths turn away from they walls.
Till the waters no more in thy rivers shall run,
Till the stars in the heaven grow cold,
We shall sing of the glory and fame thou hast won,
And the love that we bear for Old Gold.

IOWA FIGHT SONG

(By Meredith Willson)

The word is "Fight! Fight! Fight! for IOWA,"
Let every loyal Iowan sing;
The word is "Fight! Fight! Fight! for IOWA,"
Until the walls and rafters ring (Rah! Rah!)
Come on and cheer, cheer, cheer for IOWA
Come on and cheer until you hear the final gun.
The word is "Fight! Fight! Fight! for IOWA,"
Until the game is won.

ON IOWA

On, Iowa, proudly at the fore,
On, Iowa, on forevermore,
Ev'ry loyal son will give a rousing toast to you,
Ev'ry loyal daughter loves you true,
On, Iowa, with your wealth untold,
A heritage to us you did unfold,
Love of family, love of friend,
Love of country, too, make us proud for what you stand,
Our dear Old Gold.

Iowa's newest flying fireplug . . . built close to the ground and really moves . . . a great power runner . . . also a fine blocker . . . was shifted from halfback to utilize his power and blocking ability . . . figures to be one of the sophomore starters this fall . . . also a fine baseball prospect . . . in high school was two-time all-stater in football and basketball and an all-American in football . . . 5-9 and 205 . . . from Rahway, N.J. . . . born 3-16-41.

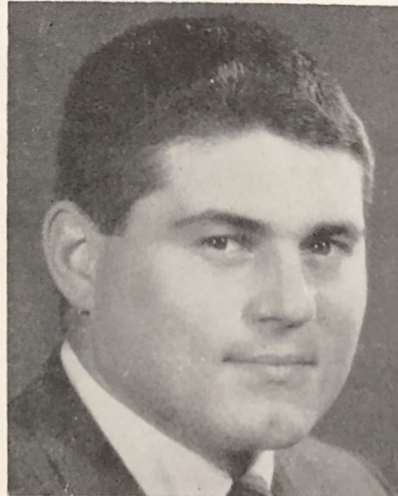

CHARLES LEE, JR.
Tackle

Granted another season of competition by the Big Ten because he sat out what would have been his sophomore year of competition with an injury . . . has been a starter for the past two seasons at tackle . . . big and fast enough to hold his own against any team in the conference . . . rates a little better on offense than he does on defense . . . has a lot of team spirit and determination . . . good leader and hustler . . . 6-4 and 235 . . . from Fair Oaks, Calif. . . . born 2-16-39 in Omaha, Neb.

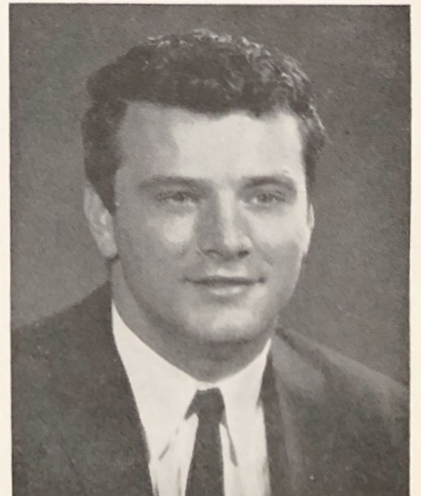

SAMMIE HARRIS
Halfback

Appropriately nicknamed "Mercury" . . . is probably the fastest man on the club . . . in high school ripped off the 220 in a fine time of :21.2 . . . not only is a swift fellow, but he runs with power . . . lists his hobby as watching Huckleberry Hound on TV . . . was an all-state football halfback and all-state track sprinter . . . 6-1 and 195 . . . from East St. Louis, Ill. . . . born 4-11-39.

BOB YAUCK
Tackle

One of the most "traveled" men on the club . . . came to Iowa as tackle . . . shifted last fall to center . . . moved back to tackle this spring where he turned out to be a pleasant surprise by nailing down the No. 2 left tackle spot . . . squat and square with plenty of speed for someone his size . . . best phase of the game is defense . . . 5-11 and 230 . . . from Saginaw, Mich. . . . born 5-20-40.

LARRY STEDNITZ
Fullback

The other half of the sophomore fullback team that figures big in Iowa's plans . . . lanky fellow who packs a lot of power, but is not exceptionally fast . . . good blocker and good defensively . . . also a baseball catcher with a lot of promise . . . 6-1 and 203 . . . from Falls City, Neb. . . . born 7-8-41.

DAVID WATKINS
End

Could help out the end situation a lot this year if he comes around as fast as he did at the end of last season . . . big, rugged guy with good hands and fine speed . . . plays defensive end well . . . during his limited action last fall he caught two passes for 20 yards and another pass for a two-point conversion . . . 6-4 and 212 . . . from Washington, D.C. . . . born 8-1-39.

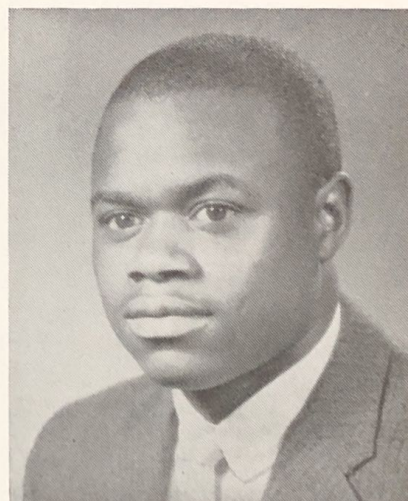

JIM WINSTON
End

A strapping sophomore who was labeled by the Iowa coaches as the surprise of the spring practice session . . . he came from nowhere to start the Varsity-Alumni game . . . Coach Whitey Piro calls him the most improved end . . . has a good pair of hands for a youngster and a lot of speed . . . was state high hurdles champion in 1959 with a :14.4 mark . . . 6-4 and 210 . . . from Morristown, N.J. . . . born 5-16-40.

SHERWYN THORSON
Guard

Most pleasant surprise on the club . . . moved into contention early in 1959 and won a starting position by the first game . . . has tremendous football build . . . is quite fast for a big man . . . continued his great defensive powers he displayed at Fort Dodge high school and soon became known as one of the toughest defensive men in the conference . . . his crushing tackles and crashing blocks earned him the nickname of "Thumper" . . . also a very fine wrestler, taking second in the N. C. tournament and third in the Big Ten as a heavyweight . . . hopes to hit 225 by fall . . . 6-0 and 215 . . . from Fort Dodge . . . born 5-10-40.

EUGENE MOSLEY
Fullback

He saw little action as a sophomore, but came around at mid-season last year and proved to be a valuable asset in the Iowa backfield . . . in 31 tries he gained 182 yards—a 5.8 average—and scored two touchdowns . . . is real quick and hits a hole before it has a chance to close . . . 6-0 and 190 . . . from East St. Louis, Ill. . . . born 6-12-37.

Balanced Strength to Aid Iowa Wrestlers

Despite the loss of two top-notch performers, Iowa wrestling coach Dave McCuskey feels that the Hawks will have another strong squad next winter.

"We'll have a hard time replacing Gordon Trapp and John Kelly," McCuskey said. "Trapp was Big Ten champion in the 177-pound class and Kelly was third at 130 pounds in both the conference and NCAA meets. Still, all in all, we'll have a good well-balanced team."

Back from last year's squad which finished second in the Big Ten meet and fourth in the NCAA championships are co-captains Del Rossberg (147 pounds) and Joe Mullins (157 pounds), Sherwyn Thorson (heavyweight), Morris Barnhill (123 pounds) and Sid Walston (157-67 pounds).

Rossberg posted a 9-2 mark in dual meet competition last year and finished third in the Big Ten 147-pound division. Mullins fought out of his weight class in the Big Ten meet in the 167-pound class, but still managed to finish second.

Thorson, an extremely versatile performer who is a regular guard on the football team, didn't come out for wrestling until the start of the second semester last winter. He posted a 1-1-1 mark in dual meet matches, then went on to finish third in the Big Ten and second in the NCAA. McCuskey calls him "a fine wrestler with tremendous potential."

In addition to these, the Hawkeyes also will have the services of Don Huff, a tough 123-pounder who transferred to Iowa from Colorado State last year.

McCuskey also indicated that there were several good performers among last year's freshman crop who will be moving up to the varsity this year.

Included in this group are Don Huff's brother, Tom, a 130-pounder; Gary Sparks, 130 pounds; William Robenson, 130 pounds; Don Messerly, 130 pounds; Scotty Klepfer, 137 pounds; Russell Lamson, 147 pounds; Herman Reininga, 157 pounds; Pete Rounds, 167 pounds; Ernest Weber, 167 pounds; Steven Combs, 167 pounds; and Larry Straw, 177 pounds.

McCuskey said that the Big Ten, as usual, will have an abundance of good wrestlers and several good teams.

"Michigan (the 1960 Big Ten wrestling champions) will be tough again next year as will Michigan State," McCuskey said.

"Northwestern, too, has come up a lot in recent years and Minnesota is always tough," McCuskey continued. "I would say that year in, year out, the Big Ten stacks up well against any conference in the country in wrestling. Of course, the Big Eight has three perennially tough teams—Oklahoma, Oklahoma State and Iowa State."

The Hawks will meet every conference school next season with the exception of Ohio State. Non-conference foes include Colorado State, Oklahoma State and Oklahoma.

The 11-meet season opens Dec. 10 at Indiana, with the first home match scheduled for Jan. 21 against Minnesota.

McCuskey will be entering his ninth season as Hawkeye wrestling coach. His 1957-58 team won the Big Ten championship—the first wrestling championship Iowa had won in 42 years and only the second in Iowa history. McCuskey is a 1930 graduate of Iowa Teachers.

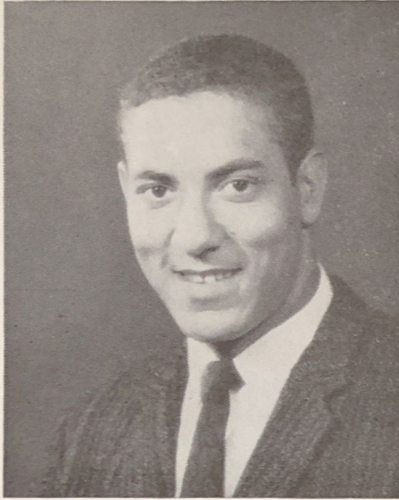

High Praise for Thorson

How is this for praise from a coach? Bob Flora, Iowa line coach, is sold completely on the abilities of Sherwyn Thorson, junior guard. Here are his comments:

"Thorson is our best lineman and if he continues to improve at his present rate he will rank with Iowa's past great linemen. Right now he is one of the best, as an upcoming junior, we have seen in several years.

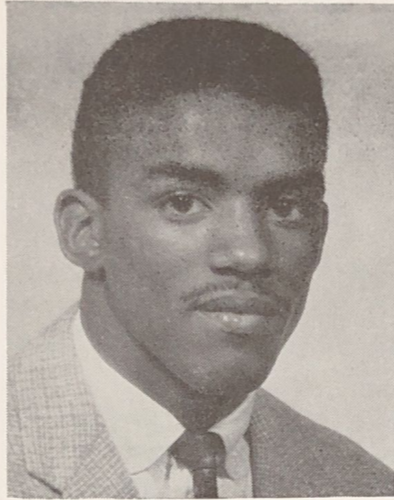

"He has great desire, size, speed, toughness and quickness—and I don't know of any other qualities which go to make a fine lineman. Thorson is always on the move and he tears into practice sessions as if he were in a championship game. I rate him as Iowa's best candidate for an all-American position."
