THE IOWA HEAD COACH C. Vivian Stringer

How does one describe C. Vivian Stringer? Perhaps you tell how in seven years she has raised Iowa from the bottom of the Big Ten standings to the top of the nation's polls. Or, you mention that since her arrival in the Hawkeye state attendance at Iowa games has increased 2,750 times over.

Do you tell of the endless hours she spends in front of a video machine dissecting an opponent's gameplan, or of the many charitable organizations to which she donates her time? Should you point out her husband and three young children, or direct your attention to the 16 young women whom she has brought together in the Hawkeye family?

It's simplest to use the words dreams, belief, warmth, excitement, commitment, and success to describe Stringer and the accomplishments she brings to the Iowa program. Perhaps her coaching peers said it all in one gesture--when they chose Stringer as the 1988 Converse National Coach of the Year.

The Hawkeyes' dynamic head coach finished the 1989-90 season with a remarkable career record of 415-94 (.815), a mark that includes a seven-year record at Iowa of 164-43 (.792) and an 105-21 (.833) ledger against Big Ten Conference opponents. Stringer's 415 wins is the fifth-highest total in the profession today and her .815 win percentage is the nation's best for coaches with better than 250 victories. She is the only coach to ever lead two schools to a number two or better ranking on the Associated Press poll.

Among the most respected women's basketball coaches in the nation, Stringer has received numerous awards but none more prestigious than the 1988 Converse Coach of the Year honor and the 1982 NCAA Division I Coach of the Year award. She was also named the 1988 and 1985 NCAA District V Coach of the Year.

Stringer has been chosen to coach the United States women's basketball team in the 1991 Pan-American Games competition. In the summer of 1989, she was chosen to coach the United States entry to the World Championship Zone Qualification Tournament in Sao Paulo, Brazil. In 1985, she coached the United States' entry to the World University Games in Kobe, Japan. In 1979 she coached in Mexico and in 1981 she toured China as head coach of the United States Select Team. She also coached in the 1982 National Sports Festival in Indianapolis, Indiana.

Also an active administrator, Stringer was instrumental in the development of the National Women's Basketball Coaches Association. She currently is a voting board member of the Amateur Basketball Association of the United States of America and the Nike Shoe Company Coaches Advisory Board. In 1987, Stringer began a three-year appointment as the Big Ten Conference's representative to the NCAA Division I Midwest Basketball Committee.

A native of Edenborn, Pennsylvania, and a member of the Alumni Hall of Fame at her alma mater, Slippery Rock State College, Stringer is married to William D. Stringer. The couple has three children, 11 year-old David, Janine, age ten, and six-year-old Justin.

Stringer's Iowa Record:

1983-84	17-10	(.630)
1984-85	20-8	(.714)
1985-86	22-7	(.759)
1986-87	26-5	(.839)
1987-88	29-2	(.935)
1988-89	27-5	(.844)
1989-90	23-6	(.793)
TOTAL	164-43	(.792)

ASSISTANT COACHES

Marianna Freeman

Continuing a long and prosperous association with C. Vivian Stringer is Marianna Freeman, who is in her eighth year as a Hawkeye assistant coach. Freeman was coached by Stringer and captained the 1979 Cheyney State team that was unbeaten in 25 games.

Freeman was head coach at Delaware State College from 1981-83, before joining the Hawkeyes. Under her direction, the DSC program moved from the cellar of the Mid-Eastern Atlantic Conference to the league's upper division.

Angie Lee

Second-year assistant Angie Lee is no stranger to the Iowa program -- she was a senior captain of C. Vivian Stringer's first Hawkeye squad.

Lee is also no stranger to Stringer's coaching technique.

From 1985-1987, Lee served as the graduate assistant coach of the Iowa team that advanced to two NCAA postseason tournaments and consecutively set school records for wins in a season. Lee served as the assistant basketball coach at Western Illinois from 1987-1989 before returning to Iowa.

Linda Myers

Linda Myers is in her second season as an assistant coach at The University of Iowa after successful stints at Slippery Rock, Eastern Kentucky and Florida International.

A native of Jackson Center, Pennsylvania, Myers began her coaching career as the assistant at Florida International in 1981. The following season, she returned to her alma mater Slippery Rock as the graduate assistant coach and a master's degree student. Myers served for four years, 1983-87, as the assistant coach at Eastern Kentucky, before returning to Slippery Rock as the assistant coach in 1987.

Jenny Lin Benson

Jenny Lin Benson, a standout guard at the University of Alaska-Fairbanks, joins the Iowa program as a graduate assistant coach.

Benson was was a four-time Continental Divide Conference all-academic selection, as well as a CoSIDA academic all-American. She holds 11 individual Alaska-Fairbanks records, including all of the three-point categories, assists and steals. Benson graduated magna cum laude from UAF in 1988. An NCAA post-graduate scholar, she is pursuing a master's degree in athletic administration at Iowa.

HAWKEYE SPOTLIGHT

Becky Shrigley

by Tim Meyer

Some things just seem to run in the family. For Becky Shrigley's family it's basketball. Her brother, Richard is a former Boston College player and Virginia Tech assistant coach, and her uncle, Norm Sloan coaches professionally overseas. In addition, Becky's sister Kim is married to Iowa men's assistant coach Bruce Pearl.

Shrigley says her brother's collegiate basketball experience was a strong influence in deciding to attend the University of Iowa.

"He told me about the time demands on Division I athletes. Now I'm finding out about what my brother went through when he was in college, and we can talk about it more. It helps me hang in there sometimes," comments Shrigley.

Shrigley's association with the coaching profession helps her on the court too. "I know the game well in terms of thinking it through, running the patterns, and knowing where everyone is supposed to be. I can see things developing on the court. I think that is one of my strengths as a player."

Having her sister and brother-in-law living near also helped her leap into big-time college athletics. "If I want to get away from the dorms, or school, I can go over there and it is like a home. It would be harder without them here."

Shrigley says the Iowa team is very much like a close family. Accordingly, another major influence on Shrigley's life is the head of that family, Coach C. Vivian Stringer.

"Coach Stringer has taught me more about life in general than I ever thought possible. There aren't many coaches who take time out to teach you lessons about life. She is really concerned about us as people. She has taught me about realizing who I want to be, and what it takes to set and realize my goals."

Iowa's Becky Shrigley

According to Shrigley, Stringer has taught her a thing or two about basketball as well. "She is really motivational. Coach Stringer really fires me up for a game and makes me want to dunk when I get out there. Just the way she says things makes you want to play. There is a real passion and intensity about her before a game. You can see it in her eyes."

Shrigley takes Stringer's lessons about setting and achieving goals to heart in her game preparation.

"I mentally picture what I want to do on the court. I just have to look at what I'm capable of doing, and try to use what I have to the best of my ability."

An academic all-Big Ten selection as a sophomore, Shrigley has set medical school as a future goal for herself. One step toward realizing that goal is completing her undergraduate degree in biology.

Who knows? Maybe in her study of genetics, Shrigley will come across the answer to why some things just happen to run in the family.

COAST TO COAST COVERAGE

The Iowa women's basketball program has moved into the national spotlight and into the national headlines. Over the years, the Hawkeyes have been featured in such national publications as Sports Illustrated, USA Today, the New York Times, the Los Angeles Times, and the Chicago Tribune. The national television networks CBS, NBC, CNN, and ESPN have each produced features on the nationally ranked Hawkeyes.

WHO Radio of Des Moines, Iowa, has been an annual broadcaster of the Hawkeye home and away contests and will continue the live play-by-play coverage in 1990-91. Several of Iowa's games will also be broadcast by KRUI Radio of Iowa City.

Iowa has played on national, regional, and statewide television in each of the past seven years and will to do so again in 1990-91.

INCREDIBLE FAN SUPPORT

Iowans are crazy about their Hawkeyes. Iowa football games have been sold out the past ten seasons and the waiting list for tickets numbers well into the thousands. It's equally difficult to find a ticket for men's basketball games in beautiful Carver-Hawkeye Arena. The loyalty Hawkeye fans show their athletic teams encompasses the Iowa women's basketball program as well.

C. Vivian Stringer's women's basketball team has ranked among the nation's leaders and has been one of the top draws in the Big Ten Conference the past seven years. In fact, in 1985 the Hawkeyes shattered the NCAA and Big Ten attendance records when 22,157 fans shoehorned into the 15,500-seat Carver-Hawkeye Arena, and in 1988 Iowa became the first school to sell out a regular-season women's basketball game over 30 hours prior to tip-off.

The past four years, the Hawkeyes ranked among the nation's top three programs for average attendance and in 1988 established the record for Big Ten attendance as an average of 7,071 fans followed the team during league play. Sixteen of the 30 best-attended Big Ten games were played in Carver-Hawkeye Arena. Hawkeye fans are the greatest!
